Record checks revealed the vehicle was registered to an address out of Phoenix with no prior crossings through any other checkpoint. BPA drove alongside the Hyundai Sonata and observed "bulky objects beneath the window of the vehicle." The driver drove approximately 25 mph below the posted speed limit. BPA initiated a vehicle stop and identified the driver as Mona Lynn Raab and an adult male front seat passenger, both United States Citizens. BPA observed four individuals laying down in the back seat. Five rear passengers were encountered, including one in the trunk. BPA determined that all five were passengers were in the United States illegally. Material witnesses Librado and Sanchez stated that they had made arrangements to be smuggled into the United States for money. Efren Ortega and Edgar Ortega stated that a friend had made the smuggling arrangements on their behalf. Librado stated he crossed the International Boundary Fence and was guided via cell phone to the highway. Librado stated he was picked up and taken to a hotel room. After 10 minutes, a white car arrived which was occupied by a female driver, later identified as Raab, and a male passenger. Librado stated he was told they were traveling to Phoenix and they did not make any stops until they were arrested by BPA. Sanchez stated she crossed by herself and walked to an unfinished paved road. Sanchez stated she observed a white vehicle stop and the driver got out and opened the back passenger door. She ran to the vehicle and got in. Sanchez stated they stopped at a gas station first and then stopped at a hotel where they picked up four other subjects. Sanchez stated the driver told her to duck down if she saw BPA. Efren Ortega and Edgar Ortega stated they were dropped off at a hotel room by Raab and the passenger. They both stated that they were picked up by Raab and the passenger three hours later. Continued on back.
